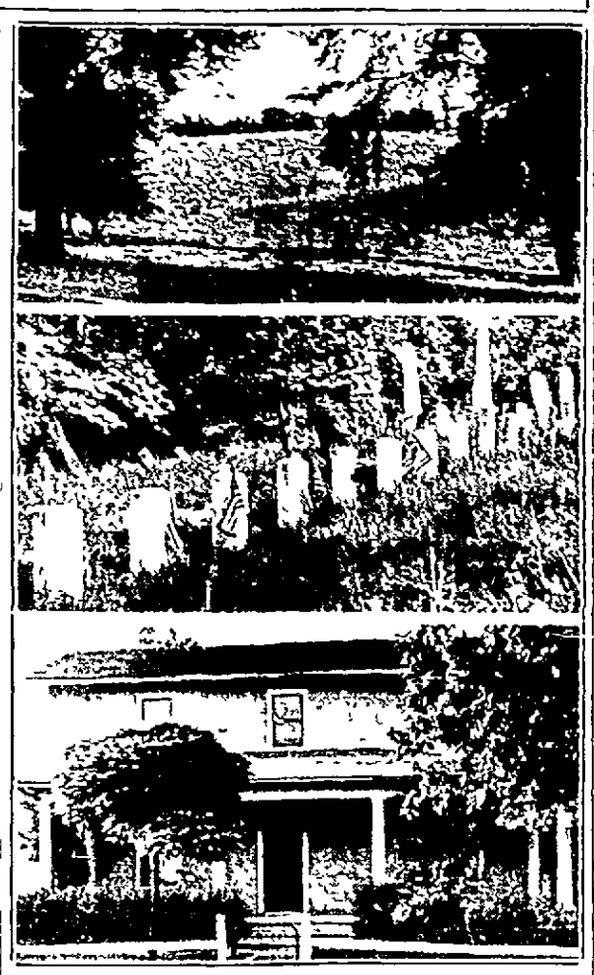
Waldo Group Seeks To Save Two Spots Rich in Early Marion County History



Camera views related to the century-old history of Fort Morrow and Wyatt cemetery near Waldo are shown above. At the top the knoll in the background, framed by trees is the site of Fort Morrow, built in the war of 1812. In the middle picture are government markers placed in 1926 on graves of 13 unknown soldiers of the War of 1812 in Wyatt cemetery which has been used as a burial plot for 126 years. At the bottom is the 111 year old brick house built by the grandfather of Thomas W. Wyatt, its present occupant. Masonry of the house was done by an escaped Negro slave and Mr. Wyatt's grandfather conducted religious meetings in the building a century ago. In the picture at the side, Thomas Wyatt, one of two living members of the fourth generation of the Wyatt family to carry that name is shown at the marker of the grave of Ruth Wyatt first white child born in the Waldo community and possibly the first born in this county.

Want Proper Recognition of Fort Morrow and Wyatt's Cemetery

By BOB BYRD

A PICTURESQUE area along the Whetstone river southeast of Waldo [illegible] historical ore will be [illegible] openly marked and given a place of prominence with other historic [illegible] of the value [illegible] if the plan of a group of persons living in that vicinity bears fruit.

The objects of their interest are Fort Morrow, a log blockhouse that stood near the Whetstone river in the War of 1812 and Wyatt's cemetery, burying ground for possibly the first white child born in Marion county and also the resting place of many other pioneers and of 13 unidentified soldiers of the War of 1812. In this tract also are buried two veterans of the American Revolution and a number of Civil war veterans.

Appropriately one of the two living members of the fourth generation of a pioneer family to bear the name of Wyatt is figuring prominently in the plans to seek governmental assistance in giving the historic fort site and burial ground [illegible] by a beautiful [illegible] ...ve their due attention by properly marking and maintaining them and making them more easily accessible to the public.

He is Thomas W. Wyatt, 78, great grandson of Nathaniel Wyatt Sr. who was one of the earliest settlers of Marion county, original owner of the site of the cemetery and fort and after whom the cemetery was named.

Another interested person is Albert Augenstein, owner of the farm on which the site of Fort Morrow is located. The fort site a knoll a short distance west of the Whetstone river is now part of a pasture field.

To Ask Township Aid

Mr. Wyatt announced recently he intends to call upon the Waldo township trustees to give Wyatt cemetery some attention. Care of the cemeteries has been promised in the past and some of the briars have been cut away but the grounds need attention. The fact that a lawn mower cannot be pushed over the rough ground has handicapped efforts to keep the cemetery active but despite this fact there have been burials there in recent years, Mr. Wyatt said. There probably will be but few more burials in the present grounds because there are no lots available, he said.

Mr. Wyatt also is considering appealing to Congressman Brooks Fletcher and Senators Donahey and Pomerene in his efforts to have attention given the burying grounds that has been used without interruption for 125 years. He is encouraged in the possibility of federal attention by the fact that Fort Morrow recently is given a place in historical events associated with the Greenville Treaty line and the Northwest Territory dating back to the days when Indians made life trouble some for early white settlers of Marion county and by the fact that the government displayed its interest on one previous occasion.

Uncle Sam furnished 13 stone markers in 1926 to mark the graves of 13 unknown soldiers of the War of 1812 buried in Wyatt cemetery and the late Senator Frank B. Willis of Delaware gave the dedicatory address the following year. Marking these graves came about as the result of several years of effort on the part of a group of residents of the area near the fort and cemetery. However that event a decade ago is virtually the only happening that has reminded the public of the historical importance of the fort site with the exception of the erection several years ago of a bronze marker on the high way showing that the site of the fort is nearby.

Keep Public Attention

Unless some worthwhile effort is made soon to set aside the fort site and possibly some of its surroundings as a public spot where persons interested in Ohio history can visit in the atmosphere of early battles and the hardships of pioneers the persons closely enough related with the fort site and the cemetery to seek recognition for

Marion, Bucyrus Men Toll Bell To Give Fire Alarm

Four members of a Marion-Cheshire resident served as amateur Paul Reveres early today in awakening an entire Seneca county village after they had discovered the village church on fire.

In the group were Dale Flanigan of Seitner avenue, John Anderson of Park street, Ralph Craven of Barnhart street and Roland Koons of Bucyrus. They are members of Bob McMahon's orchestra and were returning from Tiffin where the band played an engagement last night at the Tiffin Country club.

They discovered the fire in Melmore a village about 10 miles southeast of Tiffin as they drove through on their way to Bucyrus and Marion.

Unable to arouse anyone by ordinary methods they rang the church bell. The unusual tolling of the bell in the early morning hours aroused nearly the entire community and a crowd gathered at the church almost immediately.

The Tiffin fire department was called but the church was beyond salvage and was destroyed. A bucket brigade was formed to prevent the flames from reaching a house next to the church and some of the contents of the church were carried out before the blaze gained too much headway.

SHOCKS JARS LINE WORKER OFF POLE

Fellow Employes Rescue Telephone Company Employe; Returns to Work Today

Floyd Jacobs [illegible] of 2 [illegible] Elm street a telephone employe, [illegible] man experienced two narrow escapes from death or serious injury yesterday afternoon while working with a crew two miles east of Nevada.

His first escape came when a wire he was cutting crossed a live wire carrying a high voltage back to his body. He suffered severe burns on his left hand and leg.

The shock of the contact jarred Jacobs from the pole on which he was working. As he started to fall however his body lodged between two heavy wires leading to the pole. The wires held him fast until fellow workmen could reach him and bring him down. Had he fallen he probably would have struck a concrete abutment near the base of the pole witnesses said.

Jacobs was brought to his home here by K. D. Sharp of Morral in charge of maintenance in the Nevada territory for the Ohio Associated Telephone Co., for which Jacobs works.

Despite his harrowing experience Jacobs was back at work today relatives said. It was doubted however, that he would work atop any poles for at least a few days. One of the fingers of his left hand was burned nearly to the bone, relatives said, the other burns being less serious.

CONSTRUCTION OF GIANT SMOKE STACK FINISHED

Operation of 409-Foot Scioto Shaft To Begin About Sept. 1; Many Persons Ride to Top in Hoist.

The giant smoke stack of the Scioto power station near Newmans was "unveiled" yesterday afternoon when workmen removed scaffolding from the 409-foot shaft, believed by its builders to be the tallest stack east of the Mississippi river.

Removal of scaffolding following completion of construction work on the stack, but a huge tube to connect it with the boilers must be built before it can be put in operation.

Twenty-five persons made trips to the top of the stack in a hoist used during construction work. A number of employes of the Marion-Reserve Power Co., which owns the Scioto plant, went to the top yesterday just before the scaffolding was taken down.

Company officials said the stack probably will be put in use late in August or around Sept. 1.

Ground was broken for the stack on March 15. Since that time workmen of the Rust Engineering Co. of Pittsburgh have poured 1,000 tons of concrete into a base sunk into the ground and resting on piling and an additional 2,800 tons of concrete reinforced with steel, in the stack itself.

The stack has an inside diameter of 21 feet and five inches at the base and of 16 feet at the top. Its wall varies in thickness from nine feet at the base to six inches at the top.

Twins Born Three Days Apart To Marion Mother

Mother 17 at Birth of Boy Monday, 18 When Daughter Arrives; Babies Now in Incubators

Twins a boy and a girl have been born three days apart to Mr. and Mrs. Virgil M. Parcher of 621 Wallace court a happening declared by physicians to be most unusual.

The boy was born in spontaneous premature labor Monday night at 8:31 at the home and the girl was born in an induced labor last night at 11:04 at the City hospital.

The incident is made even more unusual in that the mother was 17 when her son was born and 18 when she gave birth to her daughter. Her eighteenth birthday was on Tuesday.

The mother reported in serious condition is receiving every possible treatment to combat infection. The babies are the Parchers' first.

It is the first case of its kind in Marion's medical history and is unusual in most all cases according to the attending physician Dr. M. M. Weinbaum. Miss Margaret Parker superintendent of the hospital said it was the second of its kind which she has known of in 5 years of training.

How rare the birth of twins each as apart is Dr. Weinbaum said for it will be certain except that in the few instances when such cases have been reported they have created widespread interest in medical circles and have been the subject of comment in medical publications. He said he will obtain all he will make a detailed report of the case to medical authorities.

Both In Incubator

The babies have a fair chance to live the doctor said. The boy who weighed four pounds and seven ounces to the girl's and blanket is in a hot water bottle in a crib at the home. The girl who is a newborn smaller is in the incubator at the hospital.

The boy takes his food from a spoon and has every indication of thriving. A medicine dropper is used to feed the girl. Both are on a right feeding schedule of a milk and water mixture.

Mrs. Parcher was at the physician's office Sunday and when told that she would have twins was inclined to disbelieve the prediction because there is no record of twins being born in either her or her husband's families, she said.

Called to the home Monday evening, the physician delivered the baby in spontaneous labor and preparations were made to welcome the second.

Taken to Hospital

Monday night passed Tuesday and Wednesday went by and there still was no evidence that the second baby was coming into the world of its own volition.

Threatened by growing danger of serious infection, the physician ordered the mother taken to the hospital yesterday afternoon and last night 24 hours and 33 minutes after the first baby was born he had delivered the mother of the girl in an induced labor.

The mother was running a high temperature yesterday but her condition seemed improved this morning the hospital reported. It will be several days before it will be known whether the infection has been combatted successfully.

Mr. Parcher is 20 and is a WPA laborer employed at a quarry. He and his wife who was formerly Miss Thelma Rice live with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Rice at the Wallace court address. This court is a narrow street between Wallace street and Fairground street.

BIRTHS UNUSUAL BUT NOT A RARITY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS July 30—Dr. John H. Upham president of the American Medical society and dean of the Ohio State university college of medicine here said today that the birth of twins to the Marion mother three days apart was quite unusual but not a rarity.

COUNTY MAPS ROAD PROGRAM

Commissioners Approve $38,932 Surface Treating Plan Suggested by Tozzer

TO ADVERTISE FOR BIDS

Annual Repair Work Scheduled To Start in September on Parts of 35 Roads

County commissioners drafted plans yesterday for the annual surface treatment of county roads calling for expenditures estimated at $38,032.15. With exception of the commission of three roads recommended for new surfacing they approved the entire 38 road program suggested recently by County Engineer Carl H. Tozzer.

Today Clifford F. Willoughby clerk of the board was preparing a formal resolution to be sent to the county engineer directing him to draw up estimates of amounts of materials and money needed for the revised program. As soon as the estimates are received commissioners will advertise for bids. The work is expected to be started in September.

Thirty three of the roads will be retreated at a cost of $26,724.65 and two roads will be entirely resurfaced at a cost of $2,207.50.

Partial Repairs Only

The roads as described in the estimates however are to be repaired in part only and usually only small sections. The roads listed in the program as 35 are actually less than that number. If everyday names of the roads are used. The roads are listed by number and in some instances roads bearing different numbers have the same common name.

The two listed for new surfacing are 1,729 feet of Merchant avenue from Mt. Vernon avenue north at a cost of $535.70 and a section of the Somerlot Hoffman road from the LaRue-Prospect road east to Route 4. The improvement will be 9,003 feet long and will cost $1,671.80 according to the preliminary estimate.

Three other roads recommended for new treatment at a cost of $6,239.40 by the engineer were not included by commissioners this year due to lack of funds. The county has approximately $40,000 set aside for surface treating and some of this may have to be turned into the maintenance and repair fund which is virtually empty now.

List of Roads

The roads to be retreated the length of the improvement and

Columbus Driver Fined Over Phone By Marion Court

Assessment of fines by long distance telephone is a new procedure here. Although successful in one instance today, it is not expected, however, to replace the time-honored system of bringing the accused directly before the bar of justice.

The unusual procedure was followed in the case of a Columbus man, T. E. Miller, who was cited by Deputy Sheriff Gene Geissler for driving through a stop sign at routes 95 and 98 on June 23.

When Miller was cited he was on his way to Michigan and was permitted to continue with the understanding he would appear in municipal court later.

As the weeks wore on and Miller did not appear Deputy Geissler sent a warrant for Miller's arrest to the Columbus police department. This brought an immediate response. Police telephoned the municipal court and ascertained the amount of his fine. This morning a [illegible] ...ed [illegible] ...the fine and [illegible] ...costs. By mailing his fine Miller saved himself a trip to Marion or an additional $5 in costs.

MAN INJURED WHILE TEARING DOWN SHED

L. H. Strickland, 27, of Ridgeway in City Hospital; Caught Under Framework.

Lloyd H. Strickland, 27, of Ridgeway is in the City hospital suffering injuries received when a portion of a cattle shed he was dismantling at the Edward Uncapher farm on South Prospect street this morning collapsed on him.

Strickland, who was working alone at the time, was not thought to be in a serious condition. A physician's examination to determine the extent of his injuries was to be made this afternoon.

The youth, who for the past two months has lived at 210 Chicago avenue here, was employed by Foster Gruber of Caledonia pike. Mr. Gruber was in charge of removing the structure on which Strickland was working in preparation for erecting a new shed.

The framework of the building was about 10 feet high and in removing it, Strickland was struck down as it collapsed. His cries for help were heard at the nearby Uncapher home and he was taken to the hospital in the Schaffner-Denzer Co. ambulance.

Two Dead, Two Missing of 93 Aboard Steamer in Chesapeake Bay

U. S. INQUIRY BOARD NAMED

Will Launch Hearing Tomorrow, Company To Investigate Disaster Also.

By The Associated Press

BALTIMORE July 30—Capt. Charles O. Brooks of the charred smoking bay steamer City of Baltimore asserted today that sabotage may have accounted for the amazing spread of the fire which left two dead and two missing of a complement of 93 aboard the ship.

I wouldn't even think of sabotage as a theory under ordinary circumstances but the idea has been running through my head Capt. Brooks said. I say this because of the amazing way in which the fire spread so fast all over the boat.

A special federal inquiry board was named in Washington to hold the first of its hearings tomorrow and the company said that it too would probe into the cause and results of the fire and a series of minor explosions which passengers said followed the first burst of flames.

Inspectors View Hull

Inspectors of the marine inspection and navigation bureau went to the smouldering hull of the ship still aground on Bolkin joint this morning for an examination of the blistered steel hull and the twisted mass of beams which had supported the woven lockhouses.

Officials of the Chesapeake Bay Line which had operated the 20-year old boat checked the names of 89 known survivors against hastily compiled passenger and crew lists. Then they announced that only two persons were missing and that two were dead. There were 40 passengers and 53 crew members aboard when the fire [illegible] ...he out the company said. The dead:

J. R. Polikoff, an Aiken S. C. lawyer.

An unidentified member of the crew.

The missing:

H. Paige a passenger address unknown.

Cy Haynie an oiler.

Seaplanes Search Bay

Three navy seaplanes began an aerial search of the bay shortly after dawn.

The fires sizzling down the bay to Norfolk burst into a floating furnace 35 miles below Baltimore.

Flames [illegible] ...passengers said roared from the lower [illegible] ...and within three minutes after the first alarm had wrapped two-thirds of the boat in fire.

The passengers most of whom were at dinner scurried to the rails. The crew milled up from the hold.

Two miles away residents rushed down to the waters edge aghast.

Boats put out from the beaches. Fishing craft near the liner hurried toward her.

Screams could be heard ashore above the roar of the flames. Passengers begged for help as those in the smaller boats were driven back by the fierce heat.

Slide Down Rope

An unidentified man picked up a rope tied one end to the railing and pitched the other overboard. Some grasped the rope and slid to the water.

The ship witnesses said since the first alarm had turned and headed for the shallow water of the west shore.

Mrs. William Klecka, wife of United States Marshal August Klecka of Bayside who first notified authorities of the disaster, said lifeboats were not lowered from the burning vessel until 15 minutes after the fire broke out.

Capt. Richard B. Wysong of the pilot boat William D. Tanner, which rescued 61, said several of the City of Baltimore's lifeboats had been lowered when the Tanner reached the scene.

Wool Market

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, July 30—Fine original bags of western wools had some call in today's market at 95@97 cents, scoured basis, for bulk good French combing length territory wools and good 12-months Texas wools.

Graded territory wools were quiet although there was some outlet for combing three-eighths bloods at 87@90 cents, scoured basis.

Most grades of spot fleeces were quiet. Clothing three-eighths blood Ohio fleeces, however, had a limited demand at 39@41 cents in the grease. The coarse wools, including low quarter bloods, common and braid, had a moderate demand at strong prices for fleece and territory lines.

STEEL STOCKS LEAD UPSWING

Gains of Two or More Points Made Along Wide Front, Including Oils and Rails.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, July 30—Stock market leaders swung upward today in the wake of steels.

While dealings were comparatively slow throughout, gains of fractions to two or more points were well distributed near the fourth hour.

Bonds and commodities failed to develop definite trends and foreign currencies were quiet.

Aside from favored steel shares, some farm implements, utilities, coppers, oils, rails and specialties came in for attention.

Well up most of the time were Bethlehem, U. S. Steel, National Steel, American Metal, Wheeling Steel, Chrysler, J. I. Case, Deere, International Harvester, Electric Power & Light, North American, American & Foreign Power, Anaconda, Kennecott, Pure Oil, Socony Vacuum, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Lowe's Fllntkote, Celanese, and Childs Co.

Doing little either way were General Motors, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, Western Union, American Can, Standard Oil of New Jersey, New York Central, Great Northern, Consolidated Edison and American Water Works.

While income statements of Bethlehem and U. S. Steel were apparently cheering to the financial sector, a counteracting influence was the drop in net for the second quarter for Republic, Youngstown Sheet & Tube and Inland Steel, largely as the result of labor interruptions.

Those watching merchandising activities for market clues found a hopeful note in the week-end survey of Dun & Bradstreet.

While some lines dragged, the review disclosed, sales for the week went ahead 3 to 7 per cent from the preceding period.

Emphasis was placed on industrial operations which "demonstrated surprising summer strength as customary seasonal recessions were further postponed in many divisions."

250 ATTEND DISTRICT NAZARENE MEETING

Twelve Churches Represented Here at Annual Rally For Olivet College.

More than 250 persons, including many people and pastors from 12 Nazarene churches in the Marion district, attended an annual meeting in the interest of Olivet college which was held at the First Church of the Nazarene here.

Speakers were Rev. J. F. Leist, college representative of the college, which is located at Olivet, Ill., and Rev. W. A. Gibson of Columbus, district superintendent of the Ohio district of the Nazarene church. Special music was provided by the Olivet male trio, a vocal and instrumental group, which is touring Ohio with Rev. Leist and Rev. Gibson. The party went from here to Loudonville today and expects to complete its tour next week.

Churches represented were those at LaRue, Bucyrus, Galion, Cardington, Kenton, Upper Sandusky, Fostoria, Sandusky, Brownstown, Tiffin, Fremont and Marion. Rev. J. E. Davidson, pastor of the Marion church, presided.

Rev. Leist stressed the need for physical, mental and spiritual development in man and described how Olivet college is adapted to that purpose. Rev. Gibson announced that the college is nearing its goal of obtaining 100 students from the Ohio district this year.

Compartments for beverage bottles and glasses are built into the back of the front seat of a new automobile.

Can You Solve This Mystery?

Here are the clues in the famous Crater Case—the unexplained disappearance of the New York supreme court justice who dropped from sight at the height of a spectacular political and legal career.

By The Associated Press Feature Service.

Just seven years ago Justice F. Crater of the New York supreme court mysteriously disappeared. Where he went and why, whether he is today alive or dead, no one knows.

The following sketches tell his story. If you can find among them the clue to his mysterious then you're a better detective than any of sleuths who have worked on the case since 1930.

But you'd better act quickly.

Under New York law a person who has been missing seven years can be adjudged legally dead. And even now Judge Crater's wife is preparing to ask the courts to declare her a widow.

Ten years ago Joseph Force Crater was one of New York's most brilliant young lawyers. He also found time to lecture in law schools and, his wife says, had an offer to become dean of one.

He got into politics through Tammany Hall and considered himself a protege of U. S. Senator Robert Wagner. At 41 he was appointed by Gov. Franklin Roosevelt to New York's supreme court.

A man of many facets, he liked to doff his black robes and play among the Broadway night spots. There, some said, he gathered material for mystery stories which he wrote as a hobby.

On Aug. 2, 1930, Judge Crater said goodbye to his wife at their estate in Maine and left for New York. She didn't know it then, but Stella Crater was never again to see her husband.

Friends saw Judge Crater around New York for a few days after that. On Aug. 6 he worked in his judicial chambers. On the evening of Aug. 6 he dined with a party in a Times Square restaurant.

Leaving the restaurant, he hailed a taxi, waved good night to his friends—and hasn't been seen since. A detective later said the cab was a "ryp" taxi, perhaps operated in league with holdup men.

On Jan. 22, 1931, Mrs. Crater found in their Fifth avenue apartment a check from her husband—dated Aug. 30, three weeks after his disappearance. And a note: "I am very weary. Love, Joe."

Last summer a traveler reported he had camped in the California mountains with a man who answered Judge Crater's description. Like dozens of similar clues, this one collapsed on investigation.

On July 29 this year Mrs. Crater was quoted as charging that her husband had been murdered in connection with politics, but she offered no new evidence. Now it's your guess: What happened to Judge Crater?

Listen, my dear, and you shall learn That Mother always knows best!

Why does mother know best? Experience, my dear, just experience. Mother buys things for the house. Also the food and clothes. She knows a bargain. She compares values. And the reputation of the different stores. She prefers to trade at some stores instead of others. She prefers to buy certain brands rather than others.

Does she learn all these things by experience? Yes. By trial and error, and by studying her job as homemaker. Mother learns and improves herself just as you do in school. She keeps up on new things and prices. Advertising in the Star tells her. Thus she knows where nationally reputable goods are sold. Mother believes in advertising. She wants to know about things. If she doesn't know, then she must take a chance. Perhaps risk wasting money. Maybe on a "bargain" that she will later regret.

Mother likes to talk to people. She wants to hear from her friends, often. It makes their relationship closer, happier. Same way with stores. Mother wants to hear from them. Know what's going on. Keep in regular touch. Else how would she know when she wanted to buy and when not. That's where regular advertising counts.

Help for the President.

The House has approved President Roosevelt's request for six executive assistants and has sent the measure along to the senate where it is given small chance of action at this session of congress. It took the action, however, in an afternoon of tomfoolery which reflects the wave of revolt toward the White House which is now sweeping Capitol Hill.

Seriously this is a minor item of the President's reorganization plan which merits sympathy. No man in all the world carries a heavier burden of responsibility or a more onerous load of routine detail than Mr. Roosevelt. His physical stamina which has enabled him to carry on so vigorously in the face of such staggering demands upon his time and effort have amazed his friends and dumbfounded his opponents.

Executives in industry have staffs far larger than that given the President and it is not only simple justice to a hard working man but also good business sense to provide him with the help needed to carry on the duties of government.

Every president in the last 30 years has left office, if he survived his term, tired and worn by the most exacting duties ever imposed on any man. Even Mr. Roosevelt's enemies would not wish this to him if it can be avoided by providing helpers who will shoulder a part of the load.

Partners.

The partnership between stockholders who invest their money in corporations and the workers who invest their labor is conceded. The one shares in dividends paid on invested savings and the other in pay checks for labor performed. Naturally both should share in the benefits from operation of the plant.

Report of General Motors Corp. shows that net earnings available for dividends on common stock decreased from $3.17 in the first half of 1936 to $2.47 in the same period this year. This means that the income of the investor with $10,000 in stock dropped from $317 to $247 while the income of the worker increased because of wage boosts.

Corporations stock represents the savings of hundreds of thousands of persons of moderate means and income from this is often as much their livelihood as is the paycheck to the worker and his family. Figures show that only a little more than 21 per cent of corporate stock in the country is owned by officers, directors and principal stockholders.

When income of one partner goes up and another goes down some thing is out of balance. General Motors, in a statement accompanying the report, blames the uncertainties of a troubled labor situation for dwindling earnings in a season of unprecedented demand for its product. The situation and the company's analysis of its cause gives rise to misgivings as company and employe representatives prepare to enter into conferences concerning continuation of agreements by which all down strikes in the corporation plants were ended last spring.

Causes of War.

Overpopulation and underproduction of natural resources are the two most fruitful reasons for war. America's greatest security for peace lies in the fact that this country is not troubled by either problem.

Japanese aggression in China springs from the fact that its own little Island is overcrowded. Italy moved into Ethiopia because it needed land for its citizens who were increasing so rapidly under Mussolini's more babies program. Germany aids Franco in Spain because Hitler needs ore from Spanish mines.

The United States has plenty of land for all its people and the present growth of population will not bring overcrowding for many centuries. It has most of the resources its industries need.

Peace, therefore, seems secure here unless this country mixes in quarrels not of its own making as it did in 1917. The present hostilities in China provide a chance for such complications. We hear with considerable concern that American marines in Peiping have been supplied with combat ammunition in preparation for serious developments.

The American people don't want the marines involved excepting as may be necessary in providing American citizens an opportunity to get out of the danger zone if fighting spreads. It should be understood that those who remain in the event of open warfare do so at their own risk and that the United States, needing neither land nor materials, will stay at home until the fighting is over.

1940 And Third Term Talk

THE tradition that a president of the United States must not run for a third term is unbroken, but not unbreakable.

President Roosevelt, by his heavy handed approach to the delicate issue of party control in advance of 1940, has stirred fears which have been stirred before, but never so violently.

It is partially suspicion that Mr. Roosevelt will seek a third term that has turned many Democratic leaders against him. They do not believe the country would stand for breaking the tradition against a third term. They want to be sure Mr. Roosevelt will not be tempted to run again in 1940.

Others who nominally belong to the Democratic party but who really belong only to the presidential faction of the party do not feel that way about it. Some of them already are booming Mr. Roosevelt for a third term. Others feel he merely should be permitted to select his successor.

The country is witnessing a struggle for control of the Democratic party. President Roosevelt has made it plain that he intends either to rule the party or to ruin it. Leaders and members who will not be his men either must get out of the party, or he will split it into two sections with himself as leader of one of the sections. In that event, he probably would seek a third term.

Washington's Motive.

General belief that George Washington set the precedent against a third term is not accurate. Washington merely renounced a third term for himself. He had intended to retire after one term, but accepted a second term. His refusal to consider a third term was believed to have been prompted by his desire to retire.

It was Thomas Jefferson and his successors, James Madison and James Monroe, (!) two term presidents, who really laid down the precedent. Jefferson, however, said after he had been elected the second time: "There is one circumstance which could engage my acquiescence in another election to wit, such a division about a successor as might bring in a monarchist." But when no monarchist clouds appeared, he declined a third term. Madison and Monroe did likewise, and the tradition was established.

Andrew Jackson renounced a third term, possibly because he believed he could influence his successor, Martin Van Buren, from retirement. Ulysses S. Grant, the next president to serve two terms, said he didn't want a third term but hinted the time might come when the third term tradition might be broken.

Congress Acts.

To forestall any change of heart on his part affecting his own candidacy, the house of representatives adopted a resolution avowing that any departure from the third term tradition would be "unwise, unpatriotic and fraught with peril to our free institutions." The same resolution was adopted by the senate in 1928 to block a Coolidge boom and, according to rumor, will be proposed for adoption in case a Roosevelt boom develops further.

Grant, incidentally, did try for the nomination a third time, after he had been succeeded by Rutherford B. Hayes, but he lost to James A. Garfield. Grover Cleveland ran three successive times, but was defeated the second time. There was no thought of nominating him for a third term because he had lost control of his party.

Theodore Roosevelt, who became president after the assassination of William McKinley, serving almost a full term, was elected in 1904. He pledged himself not to seek reelection in 1908, which would have amounted to seeking a third term.

He kept his promises, but returned to politics in 1912 to split the party and make possible the election of Woodrow Wilson. It is significant that another Roosevelt threatens to do the same thing for his party in 1940.

Wilson Out of Running.

Wilson, of course, was not a possibility for a third term candidacy because of his health, but even had he remained healthy it is not likely his party would have considered him, due to his unpopularity in the reaction following the World war.

Calvin Coolidge was given serious consideration for a third term. Like Theodore Roosevelt, he came to the presidency through the death of his predecessor, on Aug. 2, 1923. He was elected in 1924 and was considered "available" in 1928, but "did not choose to run." In his case, due to the fact that Warren G. Harding's term was more than half over when Coolidge became president, the third term tradition was not held to apply.

Threat of a third term is one of the strongest restraints a second term president can use to maintain party discipline—a second term president's toughest problem.

A first term president needs only to remind recalcitrant followers that he is eligible to be their leader for four more years when his term ends. Most of the time no reminding is necessary, because party members, themselves, realize that under normal circumstances any President has a better than even chance to stay in office for eight years and to keep the party in power.

During a second term, however, the situation is different. Most of the patronage has been dispensed. Party members, particularly congressmen, must begin to lay their lines for the next leader of the party. They must get on the right side of the fence. That means getting on the good side of the next party leader or group of leaders.

The second term President still is leader of the party and still is its most influential member, but politically he is on the downgrade, having passed the zenith of his career at the polls on election day when he ran the second time.

His problem is to maintain his grasp on his leadership while preparing to relinquish it. He must keep his opponents, even his friends, guessing. Thus, if Mr. Roosevelt were to make it entirely clear that he was not going to run for a third term, certain Democrats would be out of his control entirely. They are reasonably sure he won't run again, but in politics close ones don't count. They must be entirely sure; they would rather be safe than sorry. Mr. Roosevelt and Postmaster General Farley evidently are counting on that.

Third term suspense has been increased recently by two incidents. When two newspapermen asked Mr. Roosevelt about a third term during a press conference, he told them "to go put on a dunce cap and stand in the corner." That was far different from his statement last March that his great ambition on Jan. 20, 1941, is to turn over the desk and the chair to his successor. Apparently, the press conference embarrassed Mr. Roosevelt.

The other incident was a public announcement by Gov. Earle of Pennsylvania a short time ago. He said: "Between the third term tradition and the welfare of the country, can any patriotic citizen hesitate as to which course he will take? I am for Franklin D. Roosevelt for President in 1940 unjualifiedly and finally." Gov. Earle is a close political ally of the new deal.

Whatever the purpose, the ball has been started to roll.

New Cabinet for President

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1937, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, July 30—Although not announced as such, the move to give President Roosevelt six assistants who are to get $10,000 a year apiece means the beginning of the end of the cabinet.

So far as the present cabinet goes, with perhaps two or three exceptions, the public has hardly been aware of their presence. In fact, for many years the cabinet as an institution has been gradually falling into obscurity. This is because the cabinet officers are really glorified chief clerks with hundreds of routine chores to do, so that they know little else but their own departmental matters and hardly qualify as presidential advisers.

When President Roosevelt asks for six $10,000-a-year men, he is asking for something every President before him for the last thirty years should have had. It is true that members of the house of representatives, when the proposal to give Mr. Roosevelt six "administrative assistants" was being debated, poked fun at the proposal and called it a "kitchen cabinet" and wanted to know what the new officials would do except to help to entrench bureaucracy still further.

It has always been my desire, however, to look objectively at legislative measures and to give the President support when he is right and criticism when he is wrong. The proposal to reorganize the federal establishment is, on the whole, meritorious and the real objection to it is the suggestion that the comptroller general's office be abolished and that quasi-judicial commissions be made subordinate to government departments. Neither of these objectionable provisions seems to have a chance of passage, and the problem of giving Mr. Roosevelt the administrative help he needs to administer the huge responsibilities of his office is, as a separate and distinct reform, wholly desirable.

Unless one is familiar with the slip-shod way in which government business is conducted due to the fact that appointments are made by political pull rather than merit, the true significance of Mr. Roosevelt's request for six $10,000 a year men will not be immediately apparent.

What Mr. Roosevelt frankly realizes, no doubt, is that he cannot abolish the cabinet, and yet every President is compelled to recognize political service in the campaign or to the party in the past in selecting cabinet officers. The social prestige and so-called "rank" in official circles is one of the main reasons why cabinet portfolios are sought after, but when the modern President, be he Democrat or Republican, looks around the cabinet table he sees men of limited knowledge, experience, and background. And if they have intelligence and ability they soon become so immersed in routine tasks—not a small part of which is paying attention to congressmen who want jobs for their friends in the vast government bureaus. The result is that as general advisers on administration policy they are useless. This is largely because they cannot give time to study the facts and details of matters outside their own departments.

The system results in one-man advisers to the President. If the cabinet officer happens to be a man of vision, the particular recommendation he makes may have merit; but, on the other hand, the recommendations of other cabinet officers may be mediocre or subject to criticism. Other cabinet officers hesitate in cabinet meeting to butt in on the affairs of their colleagues' departments.

All this makes for inefficiency and certainly gives the overworked President no help. By selecting six administrative assistants, the presumption is that a President will not have to consider party politics or service but can select men who have special qualifications. It should not be forgotten that nowadays there are 120 agencies of the government and that many of these have grown up outside the ten major departments as "emergency" bureaus.

With six assistants, a President can assign two government departments to each assistant and some executive agencies besides. Thus a cabinet officer's recommendations will pass through the assistant who is delegated to watch certain things. It has been suggested in a formal report that the President should choose six men

Wages Past Due.

It is up to the state emergency board to dig up $100,000 to pay national guardsmen called into service during recent disorders in Ohio and to provide the money speedily.

National guardsmen had no voice in the matter when they were called to duty. Most of them left jobs paying much more than their active duty compensation and most of them need their money.

Payrolls are the first obligation of any employer. The state of Ohio has a duty to pay these 1800 men in full and without delay. Quibbling over where the money is to come from is indefensible. Any guardsman who failed to answer the call to duty would have been arrested. Let's be just as prompt in paying them.

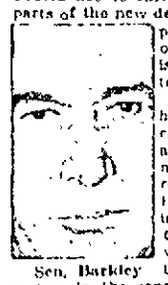
Barkley's Difficult "Mending" Job

WASHINGTON, July 29—"Dear Alben" the President called him in a letter and pointed, perhaps inadvertently, to Senator Barkley of Kentucky as his choice for majority leader to succeed Joe Robinson.

"Dear Alben" thereafter was elected by a one-vote majority over Senator Harrison of Mississippi to piece together the morale of a senate badly shattered by one of the bitterest controversies since the Civil war. It will be a testy job for Barkley, but from this vantage point there appears no one in the senate better able to do it.

That is not to say that Barkley is an ideal leader sent by a Divine Providence to salvage the working parts of the new deal. He has good points. He lacks others. But there is nobody else better.



He is jovial and hearty and physically as tough as a fiddlegut. Being majority leader requires all that. He has a booming voice, of good timber, with which he can set Sen. Barkley the ventilating system in the senate to vibrating.

He is not a bookish man, and while, like any senator, he must do a certain amount of reading, he gets his information and viewpoints by contact and debate rather than by sustained study. But his associates credit him with keen ability at "finding the mosaic" of a crowd. Mingling in a crowd, a word here, a sentence or gesture there, gives Barkley understanding of its tone. That is an advantage to leadership.

Natural Civic Type

Had he chosen to remain in Paducah to practice law rather than enter politics he would have been successively president of every civic club in the vicinity. He is that kind.

Another point, he thinks fast on his feet in debate.

His main lack as boss of the senate is a touch of hot iron. He is tender-hearted. That will have a soothing effect in these first days after the split on the court issue and over selection of a majority leader. But sometimes a nuisance-maker must be suppressed with a harsh tone and a fiery eye. If Barkley has either, he hasn't displayed it on the floor in recent years.

He can become angry at affronts, and boils if his personal integrity is questioned. But the anger of the "boss" is another angle. Attila the Hun once said: "Where my horse treads, no grass grows." Joe Robinson had a dash of that.

Broken Crockery

Barkley, so far, never has displayed the iron in his system. Likely enough he displays a sort of aloofness, becomes distant. The trick isn't so good.

They tell a story about Barkley that early in his career he worked the Paducah country selling an unbreakable crockery, to be delivered later. He got a lot of orders. He is the kind who would. But when he came to deliver the crockery his horse and wagon got away from him and the unbreakable crockery was smashed over the country side. It was a mess.

Now Barkley has a lot of "unbreakable" political crockery to mend.

Election of Barkley as Democratic majority leader in the senate may prove the first step on a trail ending at the White House.

At least this possibility has been the subject of conjecture around the capital where it is conceded that Brakley is one of the outstanding men in the party, one who is close to President Roosevelt, and a man who has many qualifications as a presidential candidate.

Born the son of a tenant farmer in Graves county, Kentucky, on Nov. 24, 1877, Barkley worked his way through nearby Marvin college and was staked by a friend so that he could complete his A. B. work at Emory college near Oxford, Ga. After reading law in the office of Judge William Bishop in Paducah, the jurist whom Irvin S. Cobb immortalized in his "Judge Priest" stories, Barkley saved sufficient money to put himself through law school at University of Virginia, where he graduated in 1901 at the age of 23.

Keynoter Last Year

His political career dates from 1905 when he was elected county prosecutor, to well acquitting himself that he was made a judge in 1909, an office which he held until his election to congress in 1913.

During the next 24 years, as member of the 63rd to 69th congresses, Barkley established himself as a speaker of distinction, a respected liberal and a force in the party. He was elected to the senate in 1927 and re-elected in 1933, his present term expiring in 1939. Further political recognition came to him last year when he was selected as keynoter at the national Democratic convention at Philadelphia.

Senator Barkley married the former Dorothy Brower of Paducah, Ky., a union to which two daughters and a son were born.

New York Gossip Parlors

NEW YORK, July 30—Thoughts while strolling: All radio stars should take a vacation now and then—even Rudy Vallee. Mrs. Homer Cummings and Dorothy Parker could pass for twins. Cinches to caricature: Clifton Webb and Paul Whiteman. Nobody can beam more hospitality than Oscar at the Waldorf.

Memory: The starched sunbonnet hanging behind the kitchen door. And how many remember when you met the milkman at the door with a pitcher and a ticket? Gelett Burgess is one up on Roy Howard in the Loud Shirt Sweepstakes. Add literati's thin men: Dashiell Hammet, Sinclair Lewis and Joe Bryan III.

Voices alike: Joe Cook and Dr. Rockwell. Biggest intellectual bet of the air waves: Hendrik Van Loon. New York's wealthiest restaurateur: Gene of the Colony. George Rector must put a lot of time on that glossy mustache. Wherever you see the Earl Benhams you see the Billy Gaxtons.

Nobody can fairly complain that Jimmy Walker has not effaced himself completely. Young Will Hearst is beginning to look more and more like his Dad. Jim Flagg and his 82-year-old father have more fun than most of the younger galavanters. Walter Lippman doesn't look such a highbrow.

The theater's most talented woman stage director: Antoinette Perry. For my money, Mitzi Green as the most versatile of the younger actresses. And what an annoying brat she used to be! That ritzy pajama shop where they tailor them to order from $50 a pair up.

Several New York beauty parlors, especially in the Broadway environs, are volcanoes of salacious gossip. And the source of much vicious scandal that so often assails those classed as celebrities. In these salons operator are selected as much for volubility in "dishing the dirt" as for their cosmetic skill. In some instances stories that have rocked the town have been traced to such sources. There is little that can be done for to sue only magnifies the untruth and gives it wider circulation. The most eager of the buzzards for this carrion are women of means who have nothing to do—idle hands, busy tongues.

The late Finley Peter Dunne and Arthur Somere Roche were, outside of Kelland, among the few writers who showed any enthusiasm for the social creme de la creme. Roche, who divided his time between Palm Beach and Sands Point, L. Where Sid Solomon's Casino in the Park stood is now a landscaped terrace with wide promenades, splotches of fragrant flowers, benches and play grounds. Yet it appears a civic blunder—a place thoroughly jinxed. I pass there several times a week and always it is deserted suggesting a Coney merry-go-round in winter. Indeed, all Central Park seems to have lost much beauty and charm.

"Ahoy! What can I do for you?"

The New Deal Alarmed Him

Dr. Willis, Foe of Administration Program, Passes On.

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—On the day Senator Robinson, soldier of the new deal, was buried in Little Rock, Ark., there died in Oak [illegible], Mass., one of the most [illegible] foes of the new deal, Dr. H. Parker Willis.

This professor of banking at Columbia university took one sniff of the new deal early in its existence and thought it bad. He has then on he scarcely missed an opportunity of slashing at it with pen and tongue.

But Willis was no simple [illegible] grapher and the result was that his writings and preachments in dom enough found their way to the common fireside. He was one of the few who gave warning in advance of the 1929 debacle. He was equally vehement in denouncing new deal theories for overcoming problems of the depression.

Treasury Foe

The "brain trust" was anathema to him. He said:

"It is amazing how simple the industrial and trade mechanisms are to the advocates of 'planned economy.' Hearing them explain their over-simplified doctrines of arbitrary increases in wages, prices and of the benefits supposed to flow therefrom, one would suppose it possible to raise all prices in the one branch of industry without at the same time raising the costs in another."

Willis was in his early days as he and Senator Glass drafted the federal reserve act. He became secretary of the reserve board and later director of research, and continued as consulting economist till the time of his death.

Early in the board's existence he detected and denounced the increased sway of the treasury department over federal reserve policies. Senator Glass similarly came to be a critic of this trend and sought to end it with the banking act of 1935 by removing the secretary of the treasury from ex-officio membership on the reserve board. He accomplished the removal but certainly the treasury's increasing domination of the national credit and monetary systems was not abated.

Panic Harborer

Willis' reputation as a financial adviser brought him to Washington as a consultant, occasionally even after the advent of the new deal. He had a hand in drafting the banking act of 1933. Frequently he was called abroad, and his analytical writings about the American financial scene were in demand in Europe as much as here. He was author of something like a five-foot shelf of books on banking and finance.

If ever there was a financial writer who had a "panic in his breast," about the Roosevelt administration, it was Willis. To him dictatorship or something like it lurked in well nigh every move.

AUDITOR LISTS COUNTY DEBTS

Amounts Owed State by Marion and Other Areas Revealed at Columbus.

Marion county owes the state [illegible] of the $4,481,265 due from the counties for care of their [illegible] in state welfare institutions, [illegible] fines and workmen's compensation premiums, State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson reported today, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Columbus.

On the other hand the state owes the counties, including an undetermined amount for Marion, approximately $1,669,000 in relief funds and for the prosecution and incarceration of criminals, leaving the state government indebted to the extent of $2,811,000.

Clerk of Courts Carl F. Haberman is at present investigating his records to determine how much the state owes in court costs in criminal cases.

Amounts owed by other counties before deduction of what the state owes them are: $20,644, Crawford; $166, Delaware; $4,967, Hardin; $16,472, Morrow; $1,419, Union, and $1,715, Wyandot.

A new law authorizes the state auditor to withhold the counties' share of sales tax revenue if they do not pay their debts, and he said he would notify them immediately that this shall be done.

The counties will have until Sept. 1 to arrange to pay their debts in 10 annual installments, Ferguson's office said. If the arrangement is not made, August sales tax allocations will be withheld, it added.

Franklin county is the largest debtor, owing $760,322. Other counties which owe large sums include: Summit, $425,394; Montgomery, $342,623; Cuyahoga, $292,452; Belmont, $150,963; Mahoning, $144,217; Lucas, $113,665, and Athens, $107,794.

The auditor's office explained that the liquor fines were collected by the counties under the old Crabbe act and the state was not given its share.

The sending of the bills to the counties means the state auditor is obeying the ruling of the attorney general who recently decided the counties' shares of the sales tax could not be withheld without first giving a 30-day notice of the amounts due to the state from each county. If counties refuse to make arrangements to pay, Mr. Ferguson said the August sales tax checks will be withheld from them, The Associated Press reported. Marion county's June sales tax was held up several days recently until the attorney general's ruling released it.

Marion county's debt to the state has been piling up since 1931.

NEW CABINET SEEN FOR THE PRESIDENT

with a "passion for anonymity." By this is meant, men who will work hard and keep out of the newspapers and will act really as confidential advisers to the President. It is assumed they will not receive callers though the President might ask them to contact particular government agencies or persons outside the government when controversies arise.

The whole plan represents a step forward and if it results only in getting to the eyes and ears of Mr. Roosevelt just a few of the things that have been happening outside the White House of which every now and then he pleads ignorance, it may be of transcendent value to the country as a whole.

With six assistants, it is inconceivable that anybody will shove some blank sheets of paper before Mr. Roosevelt and ask him to sign on the dotted line without telling him that the autographs are to be made a part of a campaign book racket in violation of the federal corrupt practices act. It is inconceivable also that with six assistants some of the memoranda of a partisan or prejudiced character which come to Mr. Roosevelt from heads of departments or agencies will be accepted as 100 per cent right when a little bit of checking will show the President that perhaps there are two sides to the issue and that possibly something is to be said for the other side.

The new bill has passed the house and it is probable the senate will go along and create the new positions which are to relegate the cabinet to a lesser and lesser role as merely an institution to satisfy political expediency. The real brain trust of Mr. Roosevelt and future presidents is expected to be a non-political affair and, socially speaking, of no importance unless someday some alert hostess of these social precincts introduces the title of "assistant president."

OHIO COAL HEARING COMPLETED BY BOARD

Out-of-State Producers Seek To Place Buckeye Fuel Under Federal Code.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 30—The national bituminous commission recorded today a bulky sheaf of testimony to support its contention that all Ohio produced coal should come under regulation of the Guffey-Vinson act.

Coal producer representatives from western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and sections of Virginia testified in a two-day hearing here that exemption of Ohio coal from the price fixing regulations would disrupt interstate coal commerce in the state.

One of the last witnesses, Charles W. Shinnamon of Fairmont, W. Va., asserted that regulation of Ohio bituminous prices would result in lower fuel costs to home owners.

Shinnamon contended that large industrial buyers have an unfair advantage over domestic consumers, asserting that the former often get coal at or below cost of production and that the small buyers make up the difference to the producer.

The only argument against putting all Ohio mines under the code came informally from a small group of truck-miners who said their business was strictly local. Other witnesses contended that operations of the truck-miners tended to unsettle interstate prices.

Examiner George E. Acret said his decision would be given "speedily." Interested parties received a five-day period in which to file briefs.

LEADER WARNS OHIO LABOR OF FASCISM

Delegates to State Federation Convention Hear Message Before Adjourning.

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., July 30—Delegates to the 53rd annual convention of the Ohio State Federation of Labor prepared to adjourn today after hearing from Thomas J. Duffey, federation counsel, a warning against fascism.

"What this convention has to fear is the other extreme of communism—fascism," said Duffey. "I don't think we ever have to worry about communism capturing the labor movement."

Cincinnati was selected as the site for the 1938 convention, the other bidder, Lima, O., conceding on a roll call of 205 to 42, with 101 votes out.

A dozen resolutions were up for discussion besides election of a sixth vice president to succeed George W. Savage of Columbus, whose CIO affiliate union, the United Mine Workers has been expelled. Arnold Bill of Cleveland was unopposed for the post.

The resolutions deal with proposed legislation providing for appointment of state judges; a cooperative movement to increase unemployment insurance benefits to 50 per cent of wages; reduction of the old age pension limit to 55, and promotion of organized teachers and patronage of labor school boards.

Another resolution before the committee asked the legislature to repeal all forms of sales tax and substitute a graduated income tax.

2-YEAR-OLD PRODIGY HAS EYE ON CAREER

Child Who Ranks With Goethe Would Emulate Shirley Temple.

By United Press

BONNE TERRE, Mo. — Two-year-old Mary Christine Dunn, who is so intelligent she astonished university professors, has decided to become a movie actress "just like Shirley Temple."

Dressed in her best Sunday outfit she curtsied in true Temple fashion for the benefit of photographers and reporters and said she would like very much to go to Hollywood. Of course she hasn't seen many moving pictures because her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence T. Dunn, think they are not the thing for growing children. But she is an avid reader of film magazines and can name dozens of stars, including Mickey Mouse.

Mary has appeared before newsreel cameras and is intrigued with the idea of displaying her talents for the theater-going public. Screen tests were planned for her by two Hollywood producers and a trip to California may be made after negotiations end.

Professors have accorded Mary an IQ rating of 155 which ranks her with the great German poet, Goethe, when he was 2 years old. Her steady flow of conversation betrayed familiarity with the doings of the Duke of Windsor and his bride, Mussolini, Mahatma Gandhi, Haile Selassie, and others.

The burden of being a genius bothers her not at all. She has the manner and graciousness of a child of 6 and is not self-conscious. She boasts the cutting of 18 teeth and admits she has had two stomach aches "which hurt down here."

Most impressive to psychologists is the perfect balance of her personality. She has a natural aptitude for music, composing her own choruses and occasionally her own tunes. Her memory has enabled her to compile a vocabulary of more than 3,600 words. A child of three usually masters about 75, according to statistics.

Mary said she hoped the first person she meets in Hollywood will be Shirley Temple.

"She's adorable," Mary added.

OHIO MAYORS HOLD CONFERENCE ON STEEL STRIKE

JEWEL THIEVES LOOT GARY COOPER'S HOME

Gems Worth $18,000, Costly Dinner Plate, Clothing Taken by Burglars.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, July 30—Burglars broke into the palatial home of Gary Cooper, film star, and stole jewelry valued in excess of $18,000 early today.

The burglary was committed while Cooper and his wife, the former Veronica Balfe, were not visiting friends. A housekeeper, awakened by the actor's dog, discovered that many rooms had been ransacked.

Returning just as police were making an investigation, the Coopers made a hurried appraisal of their losses, which may total more than $25,000.

Missing jewelry alone was worth upwards of $18,000, they said, and costly dinner plate, linens and clothing were also believed to have been taken.

Mrs. Cooper is an expectant mother.

The burglars entered by cutting a screen in a lower floor bathroom.

BY HELEN ROWLAND

I have seen Venice by moonlight; I have seen Paris in spring—and only yesterday I saw among the "Public Notices" in a New York newspaper a paid announcement in which a man praised his wife for their long years of married happiness. Bring on the headlocks!

"I thought it would be a graceful gesture on our anniversary," explained this modern Sir Galahad to the newspaper reporters who naturally swarmed around him. "It was also done in behalf of the inarticulate, happily married couples who never get into the papers," he added modestly.

Occasionally, of course, some good, meritorious wives do get their names in the newspapers—usually in the society columns. But the world is full of devoted, admirable women who will never get a line of public praise except in their obituaries or on their tombstones.

* * *

Any woman who has made three or four husbands miserable and helped to keep the trains running to Reno, or has staged a plate-throwing match in a night-club or helped herself to some other woman's husband, gets plenty of front page publicity. But did you ever hear of a woman being given a "spread" because she was loving and loyal, made her husband a happy home, and was a wizard at making popovers?

That's not "news." But it ought to be, in these days, when devoted wives and good homemakers are so scarce and divorcees are so plentiful.

It ought to be "news" when a woman has her old fur coat patched up, in order that her husband may have a new suit. Or when she stays home from a bridge party in order to make his favorite dish and see that he gets his dinner hot. It ought to be "news" when a girl comes home from the office and helps her mother wash the dishes, instead of rushing out to a wild party.

* * *

It ought to be "news" when a woman marries a wild bachelor and makes him over into a useful citizen, and brings up his sons to be gentlemen. And it ought to be "news" when a man keeps his bills paid, loves his own wife and doesn't play around in strange backyards.

But it's only when a society woman elopes with a prizefighter, or a millionaire marries a hat-check girl, or some rich playboy gives his cutie a black eye that the public begins to take an interest in them.

Obscurity is the reward of the men and women who do their work conscientiously, keep to the straight and narrow path, never cut in on other people's love affairs or marriages, never drive their cars while intoxicated and never shoot each other up. Yet, they are almost as unusual as the man who bites a dog. And that is "news!"

Officials of Ohio cities affected by the steel strike gathered in Cleveland at invitation of Mayor Harold H. Burton in an effort to settle the two-month-old Republic Steel strike. Among those present at the parley were, standing, left to right: Edward Blythin, assistant law director of Cleveland; G. A. Bjorson, mayor of Warren; Elliot Ness, Cleveland safety director, and Carl Wise, Canton councilman. CIO PLANS CONTINUED RALLY AT CLEVELAND

Thunder Shower Halts Meeting During Speech by Heywood Broun.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 30—Claiming a record for the largest crowd ever to attend a labor meeting in Cleveland, estimated by police at 5,000, CIO union officials today prepared plans for a continuation of last night's mass meeting on the public square, broken up by a drenching thunder storm.

Beryl Peppercorn, president of the Cleveland Industrial council, central CIO body of the city, said the date for the continued meeting would be decided Monday.

For nearly 15 minutes the crowd stood in the downpour listening to Heywood Broun, president of the American Newspaper Guild, before Peppercorn announced a recess.

Broun, in shirtsleeves, had just started his speech when the rain descended, but he advanced far enough in his talk to nominate Tom Girdler (chairman of the Republic Steel Corp. board) as the villain, and the CIO as the hero in the city's labor drama.

AKRON POLICE BLOCK MARCH OF STRIKERS

Whole Force Called Out as Workers Threaten Mass Movement.

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., July 30—All available Akron police were ordered to the strike bound Enterprise Manufacturing plant this morning by Mayor Lee D. Schroy in answer, Police Capt. William Poulson said, to a threat to mass several thousand union sympathizers around the plant.

Capt. Poulson, who is acting chief of police, gave orders to the uniformed division to come fully equipped for strike duty, and similar orders were given to detectives, plain clothesmen and traffic officers.

Mayor Schroy, who said he had been informed a union mass meeting had been called for Perkins park, a short distance from the fishing tackle manufacturing plant, declared: "If they start to march on the plant they will be stopped."

Acting Chief Poulson announced that recent strike orders of Mayor Schroy would be carried out by police, with pickets limited to 10 at each entrance of the plant.

C. T. Pflueger, company vice president, said negotiations with the steel Workers Organizing Committee had not been broken off, and he knew of no reason for renewed union activity.

ITALY'S PLEDGE TO ENGLAND RENEWED

British Spokesman Informed of Policies in Spain.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 30 — Viscount Cranborne, under-secretary for foreign affairs, disclosed to the house of commons today Italy had renewed her pledge to Great Britain to respect the territorial integrity of civil war-torn Spain.

Lord Cranborne's statement was made during a final debate before the summer recess on the joint question of Anglo-Italian relations in the Mediterranean and the opposite plans sponsored by the two countries to achieve non-intervention in the Spanish conflict.

In answer to a question from Lt. Com. Reginald Fletcher, retired naval officer and Laborite M. P., Lord Cranborne declared Italy had renewed her assurances to Britain "within the last few days."

A wordy battle was foreshadowed by the possibility that Russia would force a showdown in the labyrinthine discussions of Anthony Eden's plan to rebuild the Spanish neutrality system of 27 European nations.

WIFE ACCUSES MATE OF KNIFE ASSAULT

Arthur Crowder, colored, of 678 Silver street was arrested yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock by police on a charge of assault with intent to kill, filed in municipal court by his wife, Mrs. Sadie Crowder. The incident, she alleges, occurred last Sunday night. Officers who had been called to the Crowder home reported that they were told that Crowder had threatened to slash her throat.

Crowder pleaded not guilty at an arraignment before Acting Judge Harry A. Dowler. He waived preliminary examination and was held to the grand jury under bond of $1,500. He was released on property bond.

VILLENEUVE ST. GEORGES, France, July 30—The number of dead and injured mounted today as rescue workers labored to free passengers from the twisted wreckage of the crack Paris-St. Etienne express which was derailed only a short distance from this suburban Paris station.

An official announcement placed the known dead at 27 and the injured at 50 while firemen and soldiers reported more bodies were still under the splintered remains of a wooden passenger coach.

23 Feared Dead As Sub Attacks Spanish Steamer

Captain and 10 Crew Members Flee to Shore From Burning Craft.

By The Associated Press

NIMES, France, July 30—Fear was expressed today that 23 officers and men had perished as a result of the shelling of the Spanish freighter Anduiz-Mendi by an unidentified submarine.

The captain, Obdulio Castel, and 10 of his crew reached shore in a small boat early today but there was no trace of any others of the 34 that constituted the ship's personnel. The Anduiz-Mendi was still aflame from the gunfire.

The skipper said the ship carried no refugees. Previously it had been reported she was transporting a load of refugees from Valencia to Marseilles, France.

The master of the stricken freighter reported two submarines took part in the attack late yesterday in French waters of Le Grau Du Roi, France.

The captain said the Anduiz-Mendi was enroute across the Mediterranean to Marseille to take on a load of coal. Her home port is Bilbao.

The skipper said he did not know the fate of the other members of his crew.

Meanwhile, a Spanish insurgent communique reported several thousand government soldiers and fallen to an insurgent assault on the Biscayan front, on the eastern side of the land link between Frace and Spain, where an insurgent army is aimed at Santander.

An official naval announcement at Valencia, eastern seaport and temporary capital of government-held Spain, reported submarine attacks on five government vessels but did not definitely link them with the blazing freighter.

It said, however, that the steamer Anduzmendi was in French waters when a submarine opened fire and damaged the vessel. Two tankers, the Zorroza and Tamatan, also were fired on, the Valencia authorities said, but were reported to have reached port.

The government also had received word that a submarine fired on the steamers Vicente Larosla and the Cabo Menor.

MENTION SABOTAGE IN FATAL SHIP FIRE

ing nearby, said he and five companions were the first boat on the scene.

"We yelled to the people to jump," he said, "but they seemed too hysterical to pay any attention."

Had To Jump

A few minutes later and it was jump or face the flames.

As the passengers jumped, the small boats plied about, picking them up.

Max Stein, a Baltimore fruit broker, said that when he jumped into the water a Negro, swimming without a life preserver, tore his from him and swam away. Stein said he swam until dragged from the water.

L. S. Hinward of Newsport News, Va., said he and Capt. Charles O. Brooks, the ship's veteran master, were the last to leave the ship.

Boats from nearby United States naval academy were ordered to search this morning for the missing.

In Washington, President Roosevelt ordered federal aid to the burning ship.

The City of Baltimore was built in 1911 and had a length of 297.5 feet. It was of 2,379 gross tons and plied between Baltimore and Norfolk.

The cause of the fire was not known to the early survivors.

Doctor Hears Blast

Dr. Frank Ogden, Baltimore surgeon sitting on the lawn of his home at Gibson Island, said he heard a terrific explosion and saw flames spread through the ship in two or three minutes.

Capt. Z. R. Lewis, Baltimore fireman, fishing nearby, pushed within 150 yards of the burning boat. He said about 50 persons, huddled in the bow, were screaming and pleading for rescue.

Aboard the steamer were many persons who were going to Norfolk for a week-end excursion. The boat was owned by the Chesapeake Steamship Co.

Flames Shoot Up

As the ship moved out by Seven Foot Knoll, about 14 miles below Baltimore, witnesses said, flames shot high in the air and soon spread over the entire vessel.

Nine persons, suffering minor burns and exposure were taken ashore at Bayside, near the scene of the fire.

Elmer Jackson, Annapolis newspaper man, who was with a fishing party in a small boat off Seven Foot Knoll, said he saw "a ball of flame" rise suddenly from the vessel's decks and envelope it.

John H. Bing of Baltimore, one of the first survivors brought to a hospital here, said the heat of the fire forced the crew out of the hold when they tried to fight it.

"The fire got so bad that the passengers went over the side and hung by their hands," he said. "The fire got too hot for them and the passengers began to drop off."

Bing, with Robert Long and Paul F. Shipe, both of Shamokin, Pa., were picked up and brought ashore after dropping off the ship.

Capt. Charles O. Brooks, master of the vessel, was one of those found hanging to the sides of the burning ship and was brought ashore.

STAGE SHOW, FILM MAKE UP VARIETY PROGRAM AT PALACE

A variety bill, featuring Richard Dix in "The Devil Is Driving," and a six-act stage show, makes up the Palace theater program closing tonight. Four performances were given last night.

The Dix picture presents the popular star in a drama of the law against drunken, reckless drivers. Dix is cast as a young attorney, aspiring to the post of district attorney. He finally crusades against auto hazards of all kinds, the crusade building up to a surprise climax. The supporting cast includes Joan Perry, Nana Bryant and Frank C. Wilson.

The stage show features 20 radio and stage personalities in six acts of dancing, song and magic. Headliners are the Schriner trio, novelty dancers; George and Lillie in xylophone selection; Ming & Co. in Oriental magic tricks; Harry Mack, comedian; Ethel LaChance, songstress, and Everett Johnson's Rhythm Ramblers orchestra.

The parts of the roads scheduled for retreatment are those in worst condition and most in need of the limited funds on hand, commissioners explained. The aim of the county is to retreat all surfaced roads at least once every two years if possible and to give first surfaces to several unpaved roads each year, according to County Engineer Tozzer. With funds limited, it has been impossible in recent years to carry through the plan to the letter, he said.

Last year the surface treatment program cost approximately $25,000.

15 ANSWER CALLS TO TRAFFIC COURT

Of 19 motorists listed on this week's traffic docket in municipal court, 15 had appeared and either paid fines or made arrangements to pay at noon today. Those cited on the docket included 11 drivers accused of improper parking, eight accused of overtime parking and one who allegedly obstructed traffic. Those who do not appear in court will be summoned, municipal court officials said.

And from Mayor John Gris... Jr., came:

Fighting was general about ... ancient walls of the Manchu cap... tal. The Japanese army was ... lieved to be engaged in "mopping up" operations against remnants ... the 29th Chinese army, the ma... body of which holds positions ... the Yunting river to the west.

Battle Rages Westward

Firing was especially heavy ... of the city, indicating a major ... gagement might be in progress.

Japanese sources declared they had learned an attack in force had been ordered against their po... tions around Peiping with the ma... body of the Chinese army, sup... ported by the Nanking govern... ment's modernized airforce.

The Japanese seemed to be pre... paring to meet such an offensive ... on a major scale. Troops, tanks ... and armored cars were pouring into the western hills, just a few miles from the city, in large num... bers.

A new airdrome was said to have been built about midway between Peiping and the low-lying hills. Twenty Japanese planes were re... ported to have landed there today.

Cabinet In Session

(The Japanese cabinet decided on a series of "second steps" in the undeclared war. After a secret meeting the proposals were placed before Emperor Hirohito. Japan reported the capture of Taku, port of Tientsin's two ports.

(At Tokyo, Japanese officers said "Japan must attack" if the central Chinese army moves into the so-called demilitarized zone.

While new fighting broke out at Peiping, a two-day Chinese attack on Tientsin, 70 miles east, ended in apparent failure.

The Chinese did not follow up the advantage gained in their surprise assault, and a systematic Japanese aerial bombardment which destroyed Chinese positions in part of Tientsin yesterday.

Within the city, members of the Chinese Peace Preservation corps turned in their arms, abandoned the attack, and asked assistance of foreign consulates in restoring Tientsin to normalcy.

At Tsinanfu, capital of Hopei province, 130,000 Chinese Christians pledged loyalty, through their representatives, to Chiang Kai-shek in a "defensive war" against Japan.

Reports Encouraging

(The state department at Washington reported it had received encouraging reports on the safety of Americans in China. Secretary of State Hull said the situation appeared serious, but added that he saw no occasion yet for any governmental action.)

Within Peiping's walls conditions were reasonably orderly with Gen. Chang Tsu-chung, new head of the Hopeh-Chahar provincial council, organizing an emergency protective committee. Chinese charged this was the first step in setting up a Japanese-protected state such as Manchukuo. A similar peace preservation committee was formed in Manchuria in 1931 before it declared its independence as Manchukuo.

An estimated 500 Americans are now living as refugees in the embassy quarter, well supplied with food and medical necessities. They are under the protection of United States marines and their morale continued high.

Plans were made along the China coast to evacuate Americans to warships in case the fighting spread beyond the Tientsin-Peiping area.

Antics of 52-Year-Old Courthouse Clock Mystify Veteran Custodian

BY JACK ELLIOTT

RECENT antics of the ancient courthouse clock are becoming a serious mystery to Sherman Dixon for the last 36 years one of the building custodians and probably the oldest county employe in point of service The massive timepiece by far the largest in the city several times this year has stopped during the night and then started up again—which simply isn't possible for it is up all night Mr Dixon says

To any one who isn't a friend the clock is virtually inaccessible and there are only three sets of keys to the door which leads into the attic All are held by the janitors and other county officials who are not suspected of complicity in the mischief John Haines stationary engineer is similarly puzzled

Why anyone would want to climb up several flights of stairs to reach the loft just to stop the clock is also a mystery especially when one of the flights shoots up at an 80 degree angle just about straight up Another of the flights is a ladder sloped at a similarly precipitous angle It leads from the open platform where the clock bell is located up into the clock tower

Variety of Theories

The stopping of the clock has been blamed on the wind the roosting of birds on the machinery or clock faces and now by Mr Dixon on some miscreant who for sheer spite climbed up to the tower and left an iron bar which connects the clockworks with the faces That happened last winter It only the clock was from 10 to 15 minutes slow one morning and apparently had been tripped at some time during the night and started up again

The clock won't start by itself once stopped Mr Dixon said It's just like an pendulum clock If you put your hand on the pendulum and stop it you have to give the pendulum a shove before it starts again

He scouted the suggestion that maybe the wind had started the pendulum by jostling to the massive hand about 25 feet long which is suspended from the tower down into the building and serves as the pendulum A tornado could hardly budge it

Built in 1885

The old clock constructed in 1885 by E H Stahl & Co of Boston needs very little attention to keep it going despite its age Its works are about as complex as possible and people so that regardless of where the hands of the clock are the hour will strike at the proper time Two separate sets of works are used for the striking apparatus and the faces of the clock each set being powered by a gravity device It ticks every two seconds while the average watch ticks several times a second

The force to run the works is created each week by Emery Hurley familiar character of the city who climbs up to the tower with Mr Haines every Thursday morning and winds up two weights one for the clock and one for the striking device which are suspended from cables and connect with the works

The weights each about 1600 pounds are pulled nearly to the top of the tower and gradually during the week lower by gravity about 40 feet and again are pulled up As they lower they move the clock works

The weights especially the one which runs the clock were once a source of considerable danger for the people in offices below Now strong railroad ties have been placed under them so that if they do fall they won't crash through to the basement

Took Plunge Once

They fell to the first floor once nearly killing an attorney who had been standing where they struck just a moment before in front of the auditor's office It was during wartimes and the 1600 pounds created such a thunder as they ripped through ceilings and floors that for a few minutes it was believed the Germans had started an air raid

Mr Dixon was standing in the tower with Mr Haines when it let loose and just a moment before had been standing next to the weights When the steel cable snapped under the strain the wires lashed about viciously but missed the two men The 1600 pounds tore through the ceiling of the second floor struck the tile floor ripped out a hole about six feet square and continued to the first floor a spire in front of the door leading to the auditor's office Mr Dixon said

"It would have gone through to the basement if it hadn't hit the wall on the second floor first and lost some of its speed" Mr Dixon said

The height of the tower deceives persons on the street below as to the size of the clock Its faces are actually eight feet in diameter The numbers are about a foot and a half high and the markings for minutes are about six inches high The glass behind the hands is paneled and most of the panels are cracked

Gears Operate Hands

The faces of the clock are about 25 feet higher than the works and operate by a gear system and drive shaft The drive shaft extends upward from the works to a point equidistant from the four faces and level with their centers A system of gears transmits the power to the hands of the clocks over four separate drive shafts All four faces theoretically at least should give the same time

The bell likewise is no midget Measuring about five feet high and four feet in diameter at the base it weighs several hundred pounds

It was cast in 1885 from a ft bell metal by the McShane Bell Foundry at Baltimore Md Despite its size it resounds loud enough from the flick of a knife blade to be heard for several yards The metal is extremely soft and can be pared as easily as lead When the clock strikes a giant hammer weighing about 50 pounds is automatically raised and falls against the side of the bell

A huge wooden wheel is connected with the bell also and can be revolved to swing the bell for an alarm On Armistice day from dawn till dusk at least one or two persons were up in the belfry spinning the wheel and clanging the gong

On clear days it is possible to see about six or seven miles in all directions from the tower and on other days even the outskirts of the city are invisible

COUNTY FACES LOSS OF PUBLIC MONEY INTEREST

New Federal Law Regulates Payments by Banks on Inactive Funds on Deposit

Depository interest paid by banks on public funds in Marion county after dropping sharply to 60 per cent in the last 10 years is due for another drop in future years as a result of new state and federal laws effective Aug 23 county officials stated today

The federal law provides that members of the federal reserve system cannot pay interest on public funds after Aug 23 unless certain conditions are met by the county its subdivisions No interest at all may be paid on active funds from which the county checks on money daily and limited amounts may be paid on the inactive funds when the county gives those funds will not be used for a certain length of time

If inactive funds are set aside by contract for more than six months banks may pay as high as 2½ per cent interest for 90 days or more the rate can be 2 per cent and for less than 90 days the maximum rate is 1 per cent according to information received by County Auditor Harry V Mounts

All future contracts must be made for two years or the duration of the term of the commissioners with three March boards succeeded by the year ending A

The banks are paying on one fourth of one per cent interest on the average daily balance of the active fund which no doubt will be under the new laws

So far this year the banks have paid to the county auditor $4,000 in depository interest according to records of Clifford Swisher deputy county auditor The average daily balance in recent years has been about $2,000,000 yesterday the balance was $3,000,000 of which about $30,000 is in the closed Commercial and Marion savings banks The largest point this year was $2,000,000 early in June right after the semi annual distribution of tax collections

About 10 years ago county officials said depository interest was a substantial source of revenue for the county In 1927 an accumulation of $25,000 or somewhat more than a year was transferred to the general fund for operating expenses In 1927 the county and its subdivisions actually received $21,000 In 1928 the total was $17,000

In 1934 the total was $4,000 in 1935 it was $2,000 in 1936 it was $4,000 The county itself received very little of last years interest $7,000 going to the various local subdivisions

No Inactive Funds Now

For the last several years the county has had no inactive funds needing all its money to meet current expenses and maintain a reasonable checking surplus At one time however the county has had deposits which lay untouched from year to year amounted to as much as $250,000 and interest ran as high as two and three per cent officials said

Time was when banks including those in villages bear here bid competitively for the right to act as depositories for public funds and interest rates were substantial That was during years when banks needed money for making loans Now with money relatively plentiful banks are apparently not particularly anxious to hold public moneys and interest rates are low county officials explained

The present contract between county commissioners and banks calls for only one fourth of one per cent interest The Marion County bank has set $75,000 as the maximum amount which it will hold at any one time while the Exbey Bank and the National City Bank & Trust Co have no limit set on the amounts they will accept

County Auditor Mounts and the commissioners are to meet shortly to draft plans for banking the county funds after Aug 23 It is not definitely decided whether to set aside certain sums as inactive funds to cure the interest

Commissioners have directed their clerk Clifford I Willoughby to make a study of state laws relative to county depositories and determine the exact nature of the new statutes Mr Willoughby said commissioners probably will arrive at a decision and advertise for bids tomorrow or early next week

SCHOOL BUILDINGS GET ANNUAL SUMMER CLEANUP

Extensive Program of Repairs and Renovation Now Under Way. To Be Finished by September.

Summer time is "bath time" for Marion's school buildings and for some reason this summer has brought more cleaning work than ever. Pearl H. Sells, superintendent of buildings, said today. The annual renovating of the 17 schools and the superintendent's office is well under way and will be completed well before the bells begin ringing on the morning of Wednesday, Sept. 8.

All the buildings have had some work and a few have been gone over completely—roofing, new furnace engines, desks. The daily attendance of nearly 6,000 children plays havoc with walls, seats and other equipment as most members could appreciate. Of the approximately 6,000 desks in the city, nearly 500 in various buildings are being sanded and the nicks and knife marks smoothed out under the direction of John E. Beermanual arts instructor at Central Junior High school. Only the worst seats and desks are being repaired this summer, and others will be taken care of in future summers, Mr. Sells said.

Playgrounds Improved

At Oak street the girls' swings have been repaired and a backstop constructed for the boys. Mr. Sells said. The interior of North Main street school has been painted and at Mark street the interior has been completely redecorated. Plumbing corrections are to be made at Otley Street and North Main street.

At Vernon Heights school where water has caused the floor of the gymnasium to buckle the old flooring has been removed and a new hardwood floor will be installed. The water twice covered the gym which is below ground. A new pump is being considered as a remedy for the condition.

New shades will be installed at Otley and Greenwood schools and elsewhere as needed.

The new athletic stadium is scheduled to get a new pump before practice starts. Incidentally, the grass at the stadium and the lawns at the various buildings has been growing rife this summer more rapidly than several years past, Mr. Sells said. It requires cutting about once a week.

In all the buildings plastering of bare spots on the walls is under way. Mr. Sells said that after a building has been closed up for several weeks and fresh air is permitted to circulate through it the work of painting and redecorating will be started.

To keep the children and teachers also clean next fall, ten farms and the buildings have been overhauled and cleaned. Buildings likewise have received attention in roofing, lights and heating. Virtually all the work has been done by the janitors.

Vocational Equipment

At Harding High school new equipment purchased in early [illegible] will be ready for the first use in the fall by students and perhaps by adult evening workers if plans to reach the night school are altered.

The status of the proposed WPA cleaning project for the county schools, approved by the city, Mr. Sells is uncertain. WPA officials said this week they knew how many of the 16 rural schools would have approved or rejected the $15,000 project and the office of the county school superintendent likewise was uninformed.

The project was to employ 30 women for from six to eight months.

Marion-Fostoria Tilt Rained Out; Game Here Today

Rattan, Martin To Clash On Monday Wrestle Bill

A pair of old favorites, a comparatively newcomer and a grappler who will make his Marion debut, compose the foursome of wrestlers who will take part in the pair of 90-minute bouts which feature next Monday's mat bill, scheduled for the outdoor arena on Urcapher avenue.

Silent Rattan of Kansas City is paired with Teddy Watters of Gallup, N. M., and the southern upstart, Bunny Martin, will trade holds with "The Spook" in the bouts which headline the card. In addition to the one hour and one-half scraps with two falls to win, the program will include a 20-minute preliminary. The prelim will open the card at 8:30 o'clock.

Oldtimers will recall Silent Rattan, the mute who last wrestled in the Marion ring about three years ago. Rattan was a longtime favorite of mat addicts here when he answered the call of bids for his wares from other sections. Fast, clean and aggressive, the silent one is equally clever with the use of his arms and legs.

Fans need not be reminded of the style of grappling displayed by Gallup's Teddy Watters, who has been here often in recent months. Today Teddy is considered among the topnotch leg wrestlers who have become acquainted with Marion ring fans. Clean to perfection, Watters relies almost entirely on his fast leg movements to get out of a pinch or put his opponent into one.

Both the silent one have equal records and weigh in near the 175-180 pound mark. Their go next Monday should be as clean and aggressive a match as fans ever have seen here. As to the other featured affair, predictions aren't in order when neither of the combatants has been seen in action more than once.

"The Spook" launched his career here last Monday by winning over the human blimp, Martin Levy. The masked grappler won through no fault of his own, except that he obeyed the inherent law of self-preservation and sidestepped a body jolt that proved the undoing of his big Boston opponent. Levy, on missing the body jolt, hit the ropes, rolled to the floor and was unable to continue the melee.

That fracas gave the masked man a win in his first fight here and he will step into the ring next week with a perfect, although not impressive record. For his workout, "The Spook" will find in the opposite corner Bunny Martin who is a newcomer to Marion. Martin tips the scales in the 185-pound range and has considerable ability, according to advance reports.

What Martin may be able to accomplish against the "Spook" can't be readily predicted. It's likely that the masked one, while hiding his gaze from the crowd and likewise his opponent, will turn out to be a rough customer. Those who wish to conceal their identity in the ring usually, although not always, turn out to be the roughest of the mat men.

PRO GRID TEAM AT CLEVELAND DRILLS

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, July 30 — The Cleveland Rams pulled the ancient "sleeper play" today and ordered opening practices Monday—three full weeks ahead of their national pro football league rivals.

Hoping to catch other clubs napping, Manager Buzz Wetzel summoned a squad of 45 men to work out in temperatures more appropriate for swimming.

Cleveland deserted the American football league and paid $10,000 for a franchise to raise the National's roster to 10 clubs.

FINDLAY TO PLAY AT LINCOLN PARK, ALSO HERE SUNDAY

Victory Yesterday Gives Mansfield Five and One-Half Game Lead.

With its invasion of Fostoria yesterday cancelled by rain, Marion's Ohio State league team today prepared to move into the home park at Lincoln stadium for a three-game stay, meeting Findlay here this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock and the same club Sunday in a double-header.

Heavy showers accomplished yesterday what the Fostoria Red Birds were unable to do in the two preceding days: stop the hard-slugging Geyxanites. Marion swept through the first two games of a three-contest series with the Flock, by winning the first, 10 to 5, and the second, 11 to 4.

Evidence that Marion players will need the extra base hits they have been clouting in the past few days when they entertain the Findlay Browns is seen in the fact that the fourth place Brownies have won 15 of their last 22 games. Yesterday Findlay was defeated at Mansfield, 7 to 4, and the Browns are expected to stage their best brand of ball against Marion, in their efforts to regain third place.

The Browns and Tiffin Mud Hens are engaging in a nip and tuck battle for the leagues' third spot. Both far out of the running for the first place position, the clubs are battling tooth and nail to anchor fast to third place. Today the Mud Hens hold a slight two-point advantage in the percentage column, yet are in a virtual tie with Findlay, both being 13 games out of first place.

Mansfield by its victory over the Browns yesterday advanced its pace-setting lead to five and one-half games. The Red Sox came from behind in the eighth inning to shove over four runs and turn in the 7 to 4 victory. The game was played at the Sox home park. Andy Gilbert, Mansfield second baseman, suffered a neck injury in the second when he slid head first into second base. He was removed to the hospital for examination.

Following today's game, Marion will be idle Saturday, unless a previously postponed contest is scheduled at the last minute Sunday, home fans will have the opportunity to see the team in action in a doubleheader, with the Browns returning here to furnish the opposition. Other doubleheaders Sunday will find Tiffin at Fremont and Mansfield at Fostoria.

The score by innings of the single game played in the Ohio State league yesterday, follows:

Findlay ..... 020 100 100—4 9 1
Mansfield .... 030 000 04x—7 10 0

Fletcher and Hartley; Heath and Spartichino.

Cubs and Giants Set For Week-End Series Over National Loop Lead.

By SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Either the Cubs or the Giants are all built up for another awful let down this week end.

Beginning today in Chicago, they open the second act of their private battle for the National League lead. And from this second straight week-end series should come a fairly definite line on which of the two outfits will finish with the flag.

The Cubs, at the moment, have a three-game lead on the Giants, and the rest of the loop, strung out seven games and more behind, seems to be more interested in the price of ice at the north pole than in any attempt to overtake the two leaders.

Perhaps it was all in fun yesterday as each made ready for the other by dropping their starts. The Cubs were given a thorough going over by Fred Frankhouse and the Brooklyn Dodgers and wound up on the short end of a 10-2 count. The Giants were handcuffed by Lefty Bob Weiland and lost a 5-2 decision to the Cardinals.

Harry Gumbert, who blanked the Cubs in last Sunday's game, was Bill Terry's nomination to start the pitching for today. He runs up against Bill Lee, who is the Cubs' No. 1 pitcher, but who was as useful as last winter's overcoat when the Giants went to work on him on Sunday.

The Yankees wound up their series with the Detroit Tigers yesterday by taking a 7-6 close one on Bill Dickey's homer with two out and two strikes on him in the ninth inning.

The defeat dropped the Tigers back into third place in the American League, and made room for the White Sox to climb back into second by nipping the Washington Senators 2-0.

The Cincinnati Reds were muffled with four hits by Jim Turner and were nosed out by the Boston Bees 2-1 to fall back into a tie for sixth place with Brooklyn. Dolph Camilli's homer with the bases loaded gave the Phillies an 11-7 win over the Pirates.

Jimmy Foxx hammered homer No. 26 and the Red Sox socked the Browns 5-3. The Athletics' fielding fell apart in the ninth inning, and handed the Indians a 5-4 victory.

6-Man Football Teams for High Schools Okayed

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., July 30—H. R. Townsend, state high school athletic commissioner, placed his okeh today on six-man football teams for Ohio's smaller high schools which lack the finances and manpower to place full-strength squads on the field.

Townsend acted after Vaughn Lewis, coach at Bellbrook High school, near Dayton, said he planned to introduce the miniature game at his school this fall.

"In a few states," Townsend said, "many of the smaller schools took up the six-man game last fall, and it has proved popular. There are but few differences in the rules governing 11-man and six-man football, and anyone who has ever played football could master them easily."

The commission said that several schools in Ohio tried the six-man idea last fall, and that several schools in Ross county were contemplating trying it this season.

Under the six-man style of play, a field 240 feet between goal posts and 120 feet wide is used. The kick-off is made from the 20-yard line instead of the 40 and three or more of the offensive players must be on the scrimmage line. The backfield man receiving the pass from center must pass the ball at least two yards to one of the other backfield men on all running plays, but the backward or lateral pass is not necessary on plays where forward passes over the line are made, or on kicking plays.

All checking of substitutions and timing of the game are handled on the bench, thus relieving the referee, the lone official, of those duties. The referee handles entire game with the aid of a linesman.

If all the 12,000,000 ceiling arcs in the country were operating at the same time together would produce enough of the energy to light a flashlight.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 30—The Mud Hens, surprise club in American Association, not conceding anything to the circuit leading Millers.

The Hens, in third place, the Millers into camp 10 to 7 behind the effective pitching of Diz Trout.

Columbus also gained on Minneapolis, defeating St. Paul behind the pitching of H. The Red Birds scored two first and then added six more in the third to take a commanding lead.

Kansas City took a 2 to 0 decision from Indianapolis as Lefty Logan and Jim Crandall staged a hurler's duel with Joe Each team collected only five hits.

Louisville plastered a 12 to 3 feat on the erratic Milwaukee Brewers in the first game of a doubleheader.

In the second game Milwaukee defeated Louisville, 6 to 3, in 8 innings.

RANGER LOSES IN PRACTICE RUN FOR CUP RACE SATURDAY

Vanderbilt However, Undaunted as He and Sopwith Prepare For Tilt

By The Associated Press

NEWPORT, R I, July 30—Harold S Vanderbilt indicated by his actions today—the day before the Ranger will begin defense of the America's cup—that he was undisturbed by the first defeat in 13 starts which his onetime afterguard administered with a former British challenger for the trophy.

Only weather conditions so inclement as to endanger the Ranger would prevent the 136-foot sloop from starting today Vanderbilt said in a special race against three others including the Endeavour I which outdistanced the American defender yesterday in the 31-mile run from Vineyard Haven.

The other entries in today's sailing duel are the Eastern Yachting club were Gerard Lambert's Yankee and Chester Hovey's Rainbow.

The Endeavour I is the boat with which Tom Sopwith failed to lift the trophy in biennial yachting supremacy three years ago when it was beaten by Harold Vanderbilt's ...

The American Sherman Hoyt, veteran of the 1933 and 1934 cup races who sailed the Endeavour now owned by Frederick Sigrist, to victory yesterday in an acclaim as he with the Endeavour had been towed by a shift in the direction of the breeze and the Ranger was overhauled later as she approached the finish line.

Yankee was second and Rainbow third three minutes behind the victor.

Coupled with making the Ranger attempt to untie an Irishman's knot in the lines fall will the Vanderbilt acknowledged criticism for failing to place the two Endeavours in stiff competition before the international contests. He said informal trustees had satisfied him the second Endeavour was the faster boat.

Larry Louis' bout Trevor Wignall of the Express already on the job says every London paper and news agency will have a man at the ringside about 20 in all. Based all scouts are rushing to Richmond to have a look at Norman Simms, 16-year-old career for the American Legion junior baseball team. He turned in two shutouts in five days.

Tommy Farr and his manager Ted Broadribb still are feuling. Why didn't the New York boxing commission insist Farr post a $25,000 guarantee to defend the title here (if he beats Louis) as it did in the Max Schmeling case? One reason Hank Greenberg is fast finding that apple is that every day the Tigers play at home he goes to Navin field at 11 a m for batting practice.
